Who we're looking for

Many of our participants come from technical backgrounds in ML, CS, mathematics, physics, or cybersecurity, or from governance-relevant fields like law, policy, and international relations — but these are typical backgrounds, not requirements. If you have relevant experience and are motivated to work on AI safety, we encourage you to apply.

We especially want to hear from people making a career transition into AI safety. If you're ready to invest in a serious project, MARS is designed for you. Prior exposure through the Alignment Fellowship, Bluedot, or similar programmes is helpful but not required.
