ML4Good Application Form - Autumn Bootcamps '26

This is the application form for ML4Good Autumn Season Bootcamps '26. For more details about the bootcamps, see the course pages (Technical, Governance & Strategy) on the ML4Good website.

Note: If you have a legal background, we welcome you to apply to our European Seminar on Frontier AI and Law, which has a separate application process.

To see if your country of residence is eligible for our bootcamps, please refer to this eligibility guide.

Note: If you successfully went through the application process for past bootcamps but could not attend, please fill out this Re-application form instead.

The entire form should take from 30-45 minutes to complete. If you'd like to see all the questions for reference (e.g. to prepare your answers), please use this Google Doc.

If you can't finish now, just enter your name and email on the first page, and we'll send reminders (you can opt out at any time).

Feel free to answer all questions with bullet points.

Please avoid LLM outputs. We want to see your own thinking in whatever form comes naturally. We will reject your application if content is AI-written.

Applications close on 2nd of August, at 23:59 Anywhere On Earth.

What's your email address? *

In which country or countries are you based? *

If you're based in multiple countries, or will be based in different countries at the time of the bootcamp, please specify here:

Which bootcamp(s) are you applying for? *

Bootcamps are intended to serve the world region in which they are located. This is both to reduce travel and to build regional connections and communities.

Please choose your cohort according to your region. If you don't find a cohort for your region, you can express your interest.

If you're eligible and available for multiple bootcamps, or you're unsure whether you'd prefer a Technical or Governance & Strategy bootcamp, feel free to select multiple options.

If you're unsure whether you fit a cohort, err on the side of applying.
